The single most untapped competitive advantage is teamwork.

To gain this advantage, teams must:

- ▶ Trust one another
- ▶ Engage in Conflict around ideas
- ▶ Commit to decisions
- ▶ Hold one another Accountable
- ▶ Focus on achieving collective Results

What does this program do?

The program helps teams understand how they score on the key components of The Five Behaviors model: Trust, Conflict, Commitment, Accountability, and Results. Individual team members will learn about their own personality style and the styles of their team members—based on the Everything DiSC® model—and how their style contributes to the team's overall success.

A productive, high-functioning team:

- ▶ Makes better, faster decisions
- ▶ Taps into the skills and opinions of all members
- ▶ Avoids wasting time and energy on politics, confusion and destructive conflict
- ▶ Avoids wasting time talking about the wrong issues and revisiting the same topics over and over again because of a lack of buy-in
- ▶ Creates a competitive advantage
- ▶ Is more fun to be on!

The Five Behaviors And Your Team

Remember, the behaviors can be relatively intentional or have drifted away from their original goal or intent. Look for the team or individual member, and engaging even one of them, to the success of a team. Consider the following connection:

LOW	RESULTS	2.3
MEDIUM	ACCOUNTABILITY	2.3
HIGH	COMMITMENT	2.3
LOW	CONFLICT	2.0
HIGH	TRUST	2.1

Summary of Your Team's Survey Results

Your assessment score indicates that trust and commitment are likely areas of low accountability, conflict, and results are currently areas for improvement.

Building Trust

The trust and functional behavior of a behavior has been tested. Unfortunately, the word trust often does not mean the same thing to everyone. The definition has not changed and people's behavior based on past experience is standard association, habit, or the context of the situation.

1. A colleague is to completely collaborate with one another.
 2. Colleagues among team members that their own interests are good and that the protection or control around the team.

Trust is an essential component of a high-performing team. To make this statement true, the team must always begin with trust because there is no quality or characteristic that is more important to a team.

Team Survey Results

The following table reflects the team's responses to the trust-related questions from the right side of the survey. The team's average score on the four-point scale. The range and distribution of responses within the team.

	ALMOST NEVER	RARELY	SOMETIMES	USUALLY
Team members acknowledge their responsibilities to one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members actively encourage one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are organized and plan with one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are one another's best advocates.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0

Common Distractions

What is needed to focus on results?
 Teams have difficulty staying focused on results because of self-interest and self-protection. As part of the assessment, you and your team members have an opportunity to identify possible distractions from results to the success of your team. The number of people out of 10 who selected each distraction appears next to the corresponding bar chart. Note: You will be asked to select all that apply.

Some distractions that keep us from focusing on results are:

Lack of shared interests	8 people
Lack of time and energy	8 people
Inconsistent methods, processes and structure	8 people
Vague or shifting goals	8 people
More emphasis on personal goals than team goals	8 people
Impatience or over-zealous or progression	1 person

Publics of Discussion

1. The results of the survey indicate that a distraction for your team is "Lack of shared interests." What best describes the clarity or ambiguity of your team's vision or goals?
 2. In the survey above, you have identified the lack of time and energy as a major distraction. Are there currently any other distractions that are impacting your team's performance? If so, what are they and how do you plan to address them?
